

Governor Inslee has given Hoquiam Middle School a "Golden Star" Award for the work Ms. Andrews has done in getting 114% of estimated eligible students in the class of 2019 to submit a College Bound Scholarship application. The College Bound Scholarship promises tuition (at average public rates to the 68 eligible Washington state institutions) and a small book allowance for income-eligible students who sign up in the seventh or eighth grade, work hard in school, stay out of legal trouble and successfully apply to a higher education institution when they graduate.